DINNERS OF RUM DRESS FACE PROSECUTION

Providence, Dec. 12 (AP)—Hundreds of property owners in Rhode Island who rent premises to bootleggers, saloon keepers, moonshiners or speakeasies may face prosecution in federal court as "aiders and abettors" in the violation of the national prohibition act.

Notices were sent to them by Acting U. S. Atty. Henry M. Ross Jr., that they have a right to elect tenants who subsist only on beer, gin or manufactured whiskey.

While Mr. Ross does not intend to serve any ultimatum upon property owners that they must elect to use law violators from their premises, the notices being mailed out by the government are expected to serve as "hints" as to what might happen in property owners upon whose premises violations of the Volstead act occur in the future.

This move by Ross to strengthen prohibition enforcement in Rhode Island comes in conjunction with the serving of federal writs of attachment upon the properties of many persons suspected of violating the Volstead act in an effort by the government to collect heavy penalties impossible under the old national revenue laws against liquor dealers or manufacturers.

Say Couple Died in Suicide Pact

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—New York police held in the opinion today that the deaths of Henry George Crosby, socially prominent poet, and Mrs. Josephine Tenth Riddle of Boston were the result of a suicide pact. Medical Examiner Charles Norris, who made an autopsy on the two bodies, agrees with the police. "The position of the bodies alone," Norris declared, "proves that the couple planned to die together."

Crosby's body was claimed today by Charles Schroeder, an undertaker, by permission of the dead man's widow, who is in seclusion at the Savoy Plaza Hotel.

Mrs. Tenth Riddle was sent to the New York home of her aunt, Mrs. Katharine Ludington.

West Vote Wins in Part of Scotland

Edinburgh, Scotland, Dec. 12 (AP)—Sale of liquor was restored to several areas in Scotland today as result of local option elections held yesterday.

In Tullibeg's Ward, Glasgow, the liquor adherents won by a majority of 44 in the poll of 200. There are 13 licenses in the district and the magistrates may at their discretion refuse them for sale of alcoholic beverages.

Four other wards on the banks of the Clyde also voted for sale of liquor.

The village of Cull, in northern Scotland, voted for continuation of no license.

Chewing Gum to Be Classed as Food?

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—Whether chewing gum is a food, a drink or just plain merchandise has been brought before the Interstate Commerce Commission for settlement.

Under the commission's ruling foods are entitled to second class freight rates, while other merchandise is charged at first class rates, and the present classification of gum as first class matter was complained of by the National Association of Chewing Gum Manufacturers.

Truck Kills Boy, 9, on His Way to School

Pittsfield, Mass., Dec. 12 (AP)—John Mountain, Jr., nine, was killed by an automobile truck today while on his way to school. The companion was slightly injured. Walter Fildhouse, Somerville, driver of the truck, was arrested on a charge of operating so as to endanger the lives of the public.

$30,000,000 Cotton Marketing Agency Is Perfected

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 12 (AP)—The groundwork laid, a delegation of six men today began the task of fashioning the structure of what is planned to be the largest cooperative marketing organization ever attempted—a $30,000,000 central agency to finance the handling of cotton in 13 southern and western states.

Meetings were attended by Alexander Legge, chairman, and Carl Williams, Oklahoma, and James C. Stone, Kentucky, of the Federal Farm Board.

Organization was passed to a committee of N. L. Neff, Oklahoma, chairman; N. C. Williams, Louisiana; Harry Willard, Texas; L. B. Blalock, North Carolina; Allen Northington, Alabama; and A. H. Stone, Mississippi.

Maid Arrested for Jewel Theft

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—A 45, former maid in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Bradley, Mrs. Sunport, Ct., was arrested at New Haven on a charge of stealing jewelry valued at more than $1,000 from Mrs. Bradley.

The accused woman failed and when she was being finger printed at a police station and was taken to Bellevue hospital, where she was placed in the prison ward.

POLICE AVERT MINE CLASH IN STRIKE

Auburn, Ill., Dec. 12 (AP)—Action of state highway police and deputy sheriffs at the Panther Creek mine No. 1 early today prevented clashes between United Mine Workers' members and strikers of the National Miners' Union. Members of the National Miners' Union, a rival faction which seeks to shut down all Illinois mines, announced they would picket the Panther Creek mine to prevent the 320 men employed there from working today.

Authorities said both factions were armed. State police and deputy sheriffs patrolled the highways in an attempt to keep moving. The Panther Creek employees went to work unharmed.

OFFERS WEEK'S PARADISE AND CHILDREN

The GOODFELLOWS aren't all men. There is a real GOODFELLOW, and she is a grandmother. She offers to entertain a little brother and sister from Christmas Eve to New Year's Eve at her home in Roslindale.

That will be a real Christmas for some brother and sister, upon whom luck has frowned thus far in their young lives.

Here is the Roslindale grand mother's letter:

"The son happen to know of two little children, boy of 7 or 8 and girl of 4 or 5, no brother and sister, who would like to live in a Christmas home from Christmas Eve to New Year's Eve, no further away than Roslindale? They would have a nice decorated room and to their own food and a few presents, plenty of good food, a representative of two and a few rides in our car, and I may give them a regular Christmas party."

There are two lovely grandchildren of our own, but cannot have them here this Christmas as they are going away to their grandparents this year. This would make us an extra family, and I thought two lovely grandchildren and two lovely little children would probably make a happy combination. We would, of course, call for them and bring them again to their home. "As soon as you have found two such children please let me know, as I can get at my Christmas shopping for them."

MRS. C.

MOTHER, BABY IN WANT

Other appeals for goodfellow and follow:

I am a young unmarried mother and I have a baby.

I find it very hard to get along as I have no people. Last year I was at Long Island and had a nice Christmas, but I do not know about this one unless you help me a little—just enough for myself and the baby.

I have not worked for over a year because I had a baby taken out of my stomach and I cannot work. But, thank God, it is better.

ANNA.

Dear Goodfellow Editor:

Please remember this Christmas for if you don't I won't enjoy my Christmas dinner. My father is now working and mother bought me a new baby brother. My mother is not here. I am very glad.

I am not having much to eat, so please remember me to the Christmas. I have two sisters and all want to be happy here. Hoping you won't forget us, and my poor papa and mama.

MRS. C.

Dear Goodfellow Editor:

I am the mother of two children, one 5½ and the other two, both girls. Their father is in jail and the new only girl, now 10, is a week to live on. I don't think that Santa will be able to visit them this year from what I read.

Do you think that someone would give them a few toys, just as my eldest girl will not lose her faith in Santa? I will be very grateful to anyone who will help them.

MRS. S.

OTHER WORTHY APPEALS

There are a few other cases.

CASE 1. Father, ran away and left little girl, 10, and boy, 11. Mother has no money coming. Both children need shoes and underwear. Father would like house dress, 12 or 14, as she can go to work.

CASE 2. Woman separated from husband would appreciate any kind of clothing for her two girls, 13 and 14.

CASE 3. Mother of two boys, one 12 and one 15, would appreciate anything, either food, or clothing, to help her over Christmas.

CASE 4. Widow, old and unable to work for last 10 months, would be grateful for any kind of aid some Goodfellow may be able to give her.

CASE 5. Little boy, eight, asks some Goodfellow for some warm clothing for himself and for the new baby his mother is going to have Christmas. His daddy is not working steadily.

Write or call the Goodfellow Editor. Ask him for the name of a worthy family or as many as you can take care of.

That's all there is to it. Goodfellow Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston.

HOOVER LAWYER USED IN SUGAR 'LOBBY'

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—President Hoover's personal attorney, who was employed by Congress to influence the President favorably toward low tariff duties on Cuban sugar, was brought out today at the Senate's lobby inquiry.

With H. C. Lakin, president of the Cuba Co., at the start, the committee produced a letter Lakin wrote to Vice President Coolidge, late of the President of Cuba, last February, declaring that Lakin would try to influence Hoover to confer with President Machado on the sugar question.

Hoover then President stated was in Florida at the time and what Lakin said him a lengthy visit afterwards.

Further testimony revealed that Shattuck also had interviewed members of Congress on the sugar question. Lakin said this was because the committee thought it was lobbying.

A statement attributed to President Machado, which said justification for "immediate increase" in the sugar tariff could be found only in very grave purposes of the Cuban government, which would be repulsive to annihilate its small neighbor, was next read into the record.

The statement, made in a letter to Lakin from Machado, stating this purpose could be explained only after the Cuban government had been brought to the point of no return, was read into the record.

The passage of such a law limit recommendations as suggested by the civil service commission, would be a gross injustice to all executive men now under 35 years of age, who are subject to the examination, as does this writer, who is now 35 years of age. We will have passed 35. Kindly come to our rescue through your committee, as we are veterans who do not wish to pick and shovel all our lives. We will take a civil service examination for a position as fireman or policeman and not be thrown into the discard because we are over 35 years of age. We are good enough for the Federal government at 35, who are not for the state?

GRATITUDE OF APES
Commended to Men

Editor Boston American:

Some people are so ungrateful that I would like to call their attention to a quotation you published at the recent service in King's Chapel that impressed me.

I quoted this instance from the experience of one of the men of Berlin, who has spent most of his life among apes, studying them.

Two chimpanzees, having been taken out of their shelter by mistake in a cold rainstorm, were standing dejected and wet on the side of the door. Prof. Kohler came along. Noticing their predicament, he opened the door for them. Instead of scampering in without delay, as they had been taught to do, they entered the shelter, long enough to throw their arms about their benefactor in a frenzy of satisfaction.

This is a good instance to remember around Yuletide.

Boasting Humans
Takes to Task

Editor Boston American:

That item in your paper about the tremendous mental capacity of the human brain, was a little bit of a disappointment. It was uttered with good intentions by a recent speaker before an assembly of literary people at the Twentieth Century Club.

How do we know that ants, bees, crickets, etc., do not have a much bigger brain than the human brain? We get cheery about it, but when we think about the accomplishments that I am reminded of that saying, in the Bible, "Do to the ant, thou as it doeth."

Letters From Readers

of the Shut-In Society. Six years ago, an elderly woman was taken from Long Island and given a good home in a family of two persons. She had considerable light work in that household. Life has been happy with her for six years, but changes will come. One of the inmates of the home where she has lived so happily for these past six years died and now the home is given up. This old woman, who has been in her work, must return to Long Island, unless some generous hand is extended to her. She can do work in the kitchen, make simple dishes and otherwise make herself generally useful in the home.

Those who are interested in the thought of her going back to Long Island, we want to see another place open its doors to the whole person, who through no fault of her own has been unfortunate, but cheered in the present home that she now must leave.

Glad Miss Warner Got General Post

Editor Boston American:

Notice in your paper states that Miss Margaret Warner, a Radcliffe College graduate, has been appointed special vice consul to take care of the needs of United States visitors who have flocked to Geneva, Switzerland, the seat of the League of Nations. Miss Warner qualified for this after examination, which she passed with honor and her many friends here rejoice that she has been placed in this important post.

Publicity Seekers Receive Rebuke

Editor Boston American:

It pleased me to read the letter of Henry T. Titcomb in your People's Column about publicity. There are too many publicity hounds around. They are like jumping beans, they want something for nothing and they get it when they go after it, right or wrong.

If Titcomb Temple objects to anything being held there, this is enough to start them. Many of these tricks have been played in Boston. They are the greatest bullbaiters in the history of the city. I could cite several cases when their tricks have been played in this city by making a fuss and then depending upon the newspapers to take it up and spread it like wild fire. If people want publicity in a legitimate way, they ought to be willing to pay for it. They act in an office and while they cannot pay for publicity and lay plans to get it with their own hands, they should not pounce on it, they should not get it on the back, shouting, "I tell you, we're the boys to get publicity for nothing." NEW DRY LAW ROW STARTED IN HOUSE

Washington, Dec. 12 (INS)—Congress was in the throes of a new and unusual row over prohibition today, the result of the announcement of Representative John Schaefer (R.) of Wisconsin that he will undertake to prove higher law violations are rampant in the original dry states of the West and South.

Fearing that the reputation of their state for law enforcement are being assailed by the insidious House dry leaders from the West and South flared back today and prepared to meet him on his own ground.

Schaefer declared that months of investigation has revealed that many of the so-called "dry states" are wetter than the so-called "wet states."

"I have assembled official data and statistics obtained from every state in the Union, which I will present to the Congress and the American people," said Schaefer.

"These figures indicate an almost unbelievable increase in arrests for intoxication, for driving automobiles while intoxicated, for manufacture and sale of liquor. They clearly show the prohibition law has failed. They show some remarkable increases in violations of the law in the so-called dry states, whose representatives in Congress are only intent upon dying up the big cities of the country."

Two representatives of the House, Mr. Homer H. Hark (R.) of Kansas and Mr. Charles L. McNary (D.) of Oregon, who are opponents of Schaefer's broad accusations. Both Hark and McNary claim they cannot be blamed for the situation on the subject, but assert prohibition has benefited their states.

"We have had constitutional prohibition in Kansas for 40 years and people who have seen it tried for a generation and it takes a generation to try such a law—are generally satisfied," said Hark.

Mr. McNary said that the prohibition law is violated, but not more so in the dry states than any place else.

Bossy Parade Minus Bossy Held at Newburyport

Hamlet without the Danish prince was enacted at Newburyport when Mayor Gillette's "victory parade" was staged with Bossy absent. About 20 automobiles were in the procession, with the occupants waving red fire and making plenty of noise. The mayor's engagement to speak at a Harvard legion gathering kept him away.

Cotton Brokers Are Attacked by Hefflin

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—A charge that the firm of Anderson, Clayton & Co., Houston, Tex., cotton brokers, was exerting an "over-shadowing influence" on the cotton exchanges of the country was made before a Senate agriculture sub-committee today by Senator Hefflin, Democrat, Alabama. During an investigation into the causes of depressed cotton prices, Gardner H. Miller, president of the New York Cotton Exchange, testified that the exchanges were responsible for the low price for cotton in recent months. He said it was caused by a large world production with rapid marketing of the domestic crop at a time when the spinning industry was depressed.

BRITISH RIVERS ON RAMPADE IN STORM

London, Dec. 12 (AP)—South and west Britain's flooded rivers continued to rise today, inundating considerable sections of farmland and urban sections and threatening further damage. The Thames valley, Somerset, and parts of the western midland counties were particularly hard hit.

The Severn, Wye, Uss, Tone and Parrett rivers in the west and the Thames in the south poured millions of tons of water over miles of country.

Numerous roads were made impassable. Many towns were inundated. Some railways were paralyzed.

An unremitting work was kept on the Thames in London, where unexpected high tides might cause a repetition of previous disastrous floods in the metropolitan area.

The lower grounds of Windsor Castle were submerged, as also were those of historic Eton College across the river. The famous meadow of Runnymede, near Egham, where Magna Carta was signed, was a big shallow lake.

Today, in the real estate column of the Standard, the use of the word "opportunities for profitable investment."

15 CENT DROP IN PRICE OF EGGS

A sharp drop in the retail price of eggs was noted today at the Faneuil Hall market. Best quality eggs, which were 50 cents, now are selling for 75 cents.

The reason for this drop in price is the fact that the market is flooded with eggs. The quantity of eggs is so large that the price has fallen. The eggs are still in good condition, but the price has fallen.

SANTA AND SON AT CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

Santa Claus and his son visited the Children's Hospital on Longwood avenue, Brookline, and from many smiling and happy faces seen in each ward, and every private room, it was quite evident that the trip was a happy success.

Santa and his son arrived from the Jordan Marsh Company in a new suit and with Mrs. Charles, the Jordan Marsh superintendent, as escort and guide. A trip through every ward was made, and every child was given a little gift. Santa Claus and his son were very much enjoyed by the children, and what looks of surprise as old Santa presented his son, Santy.

This fair complexioned, boyish-looking son was a child among children, and everyone enjoyed his singing and his musical numbers played on the flute.

Over 175 youngsters were greeted by the Jordan Marsh character, Santa Claus, and an equal number of children were given a little surprise booklet, "The Coming of Santy."

TO SEEK STATE GRAFT PROBE IN WOODSOCKET

Woodssocket, R. I., Dec. 12.—Failure of the Board of Aldermen to pass a city council resolution demanding investigation of alleged bribery and graft in connection with the proposed $500,000 sewage plant in this city will bring up for action by the attorney-general of Rhode Island, it was declared today by Oscar H. Thomas, president of the council.

His threat to secure such action followed a statement which he made in a council session to the effect that he had been offered construction of the plant with a net profit of $47,000 for his vote in providing Mayor J. Hector Pagani's veto of the appropriation measure.

The resolution calling for investigation of Thomas' charges was passed by Councilman William F. Calley, a member of the minority and seconded by Councilman Robert J. Poon, a majority member. The resolution will come up for action at the next Monday night session.

Opponents of the $500,000 plan, headed by Mayor Pagani and Councilman Poon, advised the council that several engineering firms of high repute had been consulted and had stated that the proposed plant could be constructed for $200,000.

Mayor Pagani, who voted four times the plans and figures submitted by Watson and Pugh, New York engineers, who were given a release, Councilman Poon, an architect serving his first term in the city council, declined to reveal the name of the firm which offered the alleged bribe.

"If the Board of Aldermen fail to pass this resolution I shall carry the whole affair to the attorney-general's office and also lay it before the governor," he said. "I shall insist that the whole work of the matter be thoroughly investigated and I will show that the plan calling for the expenditure of $500,000 for sewage plant has been hovering over City Hall for four years waiting for a chance to be slipped over on the people of this city."

President, Dec. 12.—Three men, one of them armed, today invaded a house and robbed Joseph Schrek in the William P. Schrek in the former's camp at Greely, obtained $100 and fled in Schrek's automobile.

Schrek, a salesman for a local "sawmill" company, was in the midst of a selling talk in Greely when the hold-up men entered the scene. With a revolver one entered Schrek and Schrek, ordering him to get out of his hands. The other robber, who had a gun, went through his pockets.

The sum of $75 was taken from Schrek, $50 from Billie and $50 from the cash drawer. Threatening to kill their victims if they made an outcry, the robbers escaped in Schrek's car. Police obtained good descriptions and flashed an alarm throughout the State.

13 PLANES BURN $100,000 LOSS IN TAMPA FIRE

Tampa, Fla., Dec. 12 (AP).—Fire swept through the steel hangar at the municipal airport today, destroying 13 airplanes. The Tribune said the loss was estimated at $100,000.

The loss was not discovered until explosions had awakened nearby residents and the building's interior was a mass of flames.

One of the planes in the hangar was owned by Randall Norrell at St. Louis. Norrell also owned the two ships used in an endurance attempt which crashed here Sunday and killed two pilots.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Among the Chief Post Totes said he found planes and equipment covered with gasoline and together with E. Wallace Jackson, aviation commission chairman, began an investigation.

The structure of the hangar was damaged and Tynes said he indicated the planes had been set afire.

Women's Clubs of Ninth District Plan Program for Campaign in Legislature

Riverside Club Hostess at Conference

Club of the ninth district will be guests of the Riverside Club, Bangor, at the legislative conference to be held at the East Bangor Community Church, Tuesday afternoon, at 2 p.m.

Mrs. J. Norman Jeffery, district director, will preside and greetings will be given by the chairman of the Bangor Board of Selectmen, Harry Woodward; the pastor of the church, Rev. A. B. Hoffer; and the president of the district club, Mrs. Frederick Platt.

The afternoon will be devoted to the presentation of the legislative program for study and consideration and presided by Mrs. Fred L. Pigeon, state legislative chairman. Mrs. Harry Merrill, local legislative chairman, is hostess for the afternoon.

Revision of the law book and the anticipated law bill will be represented by speakers on both sides.

As there is no opposition present to the continuation of the committee appointed to study the laws relative to children and in the proposed bill to regulate overnight automobile camps and tourist homes, speakers will defend the bills in their arguments.

Other legislative questions will be presented by Mrs. Pigeon herself who will have the floor on the abolition of capital punishment, milk bills, jury service for women, the bill to raise the school age and the state forestry bill.

A musical program has also been arranged.

MARSHBURNETT CLUB

LEAGUE

So great has been the demand of the public to hear Judge Herbert O. Cochran, of the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court of Norfolk, Va., who has been in Boston and in Cambridge, that he has consented to speak once again at the special luncheon arranged in his honor for Friday, December 13, at 1 p.m. at the Twentieth Century Club, Joy at under the auspices of the Civic League.

Judith Winfield, director of the Boston Municipal Club will act as hostess of the domestic relations section of his court, the entire interest centering about the definite establishment of such domestic relations courts throughout the State.

The organizations sponsoring the Friday meeting include the Board of Probation, Boston Council of Social Agencies, Catholic Charitable Bureau, Children's Aid Association, Boston Section, Council of Jewish Women, Family Welfare Society of Boston, Federated Jewish Churches, Florence Crittenton League of Compassion, Judge Risk Foundation, Massachusetts Child Labor Committee, Massachusetts Federation of Churches, Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, National Civic Federation, Massachusetts Section, Rev. George L. Paine, executive secretary, Greater Boston Federation of Churches and the Travelers' Aid Society of Boston.

Herbert C. Parsons will preside at the luncheon and introduce the Virginia judge.

Delinquency in Norfolk has been reduced one-half since the establishment of this court, and an inspection of the district in a period of over 10 years shows that only about one per cent come into court again, whereas in the total criminality handled about 60 per cent are recaptured.

WINCHENDON WOMAN'S CLUB

The final meeting of 1929 will be held in Library Hall Friday afternoon.

Air Romance, Better Than "Chickie"

What Has Happened
MARY PATRICIA DAWN
M beautiful, young brunette meets the lad of her dreams in the person of Tony Elliott, aviator.
Tony is developing a perfect airplane in the plant of old William Brace. Happy days follow. At last Pat and Tony are married.
Barbara Brace, young widow
Brace's son, with her seductive
eyes.
Pat's father dies and Mrs. Dawn loses her life savings in the stock market. But she gets them back. Tony's ship is finished.
Tony is developing a perfect airplane in the plant of old William Brace. Happy days follow. At last Pat and Tony are married.
Barbara Brace, young widow
Brace's son, with her seductive
eyes.

Now Read On CHAPTER 34.

HE knew now that Pat was missing. That Monday, as soon as he was allowed to see him, Harold Homing, an attorney and Guy's friend, gave him the details.

Guy went up, took the steel bars of the visitor's cell and made as though he would twist them to dough. He came back to Hemming. With face shockingly white, and quivering at most insane eyes, he asked:
"No trace of her? All airports watched?"

Hemming nodded.
Then Guy said: "Get me out of here! Anyway—some way.
Hurry—get me out!"

He went out. He was back and forth in his narrow cage.
And he saw nothing but images of Pat. He saw her face, glowing in the moonlight, pure, radiant, pitifully young, against the dark, white children. He flung from his imagination the stark fact of her appearance. Someone had clung into his plane and rapt off her.
And the whole world conspired to keep her from him.
He wondered if he were utterly mad. And all these grotesque happenings were indeed the work of nightmare.
He would get out of it, find himself standing before a mirror, pulling a necktie snugly into place.
Find himself climbing into his car.
Find himself driving home to find his wife waiting for him. Find himself, in his home, find his wife waiting for him. Find himself, in his home, find his wife waiting for him.

It wasn't possible this thing would happen. But he was desperate. Follow if today he could find anyone believe the monstrous, incredible thing?

He pleaded with his friends who came to see him in his cell. He pleaded with newspaper reporters, with detectives, even with his parents to let him out.

When it proved of his innocence that Pat was gone? What man, unless he were completely crazy, would let his wife be taken away alone by another man? His partner in a fight?

Even a thought would stop at this.
He hesitated.
When they refused to believe him,
these police, by holding him,
were bringing death, perhaps worse, to Pat. They were keeping him backed there, in the custody of an unknown scoundrel.

Pat was being battered this fellow might be tortured by him—might be hurt.

He called on the public to watch his case. He demanded that he be free.

One day when Laura Dawn came and stood outside this terrible vision a cage in the Hall of Justice only then was he released and quiet. He couldn't bear to look in Laura's eyes.

Nor could she endure the look of him. They tortured each other.
—these two—

Laura felt the devastation of an awful death—a complete destruction in her soul. Her Pat would not return. But she knew she loved and who for 20 years had been the pride of her life. Her heart—her heart and Richard—was gone.

Had gone from her that happy
Monday morning—it seemed so happy now in comparison with the mortal devastation of other days.

And Pat was not returning.
Worse than she had dared to fear.
She asked fearfully, "Who did they take Pat?" Are the two kidnappers connected?

Still more dejected, Guy answered "I figure they didn't count on taking Pat."
They? But she was waiting for him. It was cold that day.
He climbed into the cabin to wait. She often did it. In the dark, the fellow didn't see her. He'd phoned to have the plane tuned up, because he wanted to fly.

He carried Pat off without knowing it and without her ever guessing that any but I had climbed into the plane "till too late."

"What has he done with her?"
Guy—might he have found her from the plane—over the mountains—perhaps? Pleading she couldn't interfere with the plane.

"No—no one would do that!"
The ransom is paid. Who are they not returned?

This was the question on everyone's lips. It strengthened the

Gossips Guess Who is on the Eligible List for Command of the National Guard

Local National Guard circles, aware of the news of the retirement of Major Gen. Alfred P. Foote from the emergency officers' reserve, today speculated on the probable successor to Gen. Foote in the event of a further found duty.

One of the circles held with particular emphasis in connection with the position, however, is that of Major Gen. Richard K. Hale of Boston, now on the retired list.

Hale is an associate commissioner of public works and a graduate of Harvard University.

He graduated from the staff school and later served as chief of staff of the 2d Army Corps.

He was promoted to colonel and returned to the United States as chief of staff of the 1st Division.

He was awarded the distinguished service cross.

When the National Guard was reorganized, Col. Hale was appointed a brigadier-general and chief command of the 1st Field Artillery.

He was promoted to major general and later served as chief of staff of the 1st Division.

HAD TWO BOYS IN ROBBERY

Colman, Dec. 12 (AP)—Frank Scahill, 18, and Eugene Budd, 18, both of Lynn, were held in $10,000 bail each today when arraigned for the robbery of a Danvers druggist.

Nov. 29. In default of bonds they were lodged in Salem jail. Three other youth and two girls, one a wife of a few months, and an infant, were released in $10,000 bail each.

The seven will go on trial next Saturday.

Colman and Budd were brought back from New York by the Danvers police.

Florence O'Hara, 8, and her sister, 3, whom she carried to safety in fire at 18A Baldwin st., Lynn. (Staff photo.)

While coast guard patrol boats were searching for her as a vessel in distress, the motor fisherman William H. Kellizaw of New Bedford arrived at the Fish Pier today under her own power.

The first vessel was expedited here off Highland Light for two days while the coast guard destroyer Durston combed the waters off the Menominee cylinder under a burned-out heading was cut out by the crew at the small boat made port. The vessel is now by John Williams of New Bedford and carrying Phoebe.

An airplane trip from the South Pole to Mars is possible, and any scientist who believes that a rocket may be shot up to reach another planet, is all wrong in his conception of universal continuity.

Thus is the daring deduction of F. A. Clavin, philosopher and author of The Worlds Beyond the Poles, who is at present expounding his radical astronomical observations.

Giannini's continuity idea is more fantastic than Jules Verne ever dreamed of. He maintains that one may move "atraipse" ahead "from the Arctic or Antarctic poles and reach other planets or stars that appear "up." He not only asserts that the globular belief that we are living on a flat surface and slipping off the edge of the sun is a postulate, but declares that he is ready to defend his philosophy before any scientific body in the nation.

Giannini who told Capt. Knott George Hubert Wilkins that he would lead an expedition to the South Pole in 1926, "in coming or evening" never shot up from the earth and never reached any other part of the universe" and that the only way to reach "up" is to move on the

"There is no place like home," this quartet of Somerville boys, from 12 to 14, agreed when they had been brought back from Bridgewater, their first stop on a projected tour of the country. The boys said they planned to seek work on the "Moose Ranch" in Bridgewater to "harden up" for the rigors of life on the Western plains. However, the Bridgewater police interfered and picked them up. They had two suitcases loaded with clothes, flashlights, two toy pistols and some adventure-type magazines.

Mystery surrounds the attempt of Mrs. Mary Saracena, 28, to end her life early today by drinking poison in the form of chloroform.

She was removed in a serious condition from her home, 62 1/2 West End, to Haymarket hospital, suffering from the effects of the poison.

Mrs. Saracena, who is an attractive young woman, refused to tell her husband or the hospital officials why she drank the poison, according to the police.

Her husband and other members of the family were awakened early today by her moans. When they went to her room they found her suffering intensely. The empty pill bottle was nearby, according to the police.

FAHEY ATTACKS HOLDING COMPANIES AT POWER TRUST HEARING

PRACICES IMPROPER, HE SAYS

Challenges Argument That They Represent an Advancement in Efficiency

Holding companies were assailed today by John H. Fahey, Worcester publisher, at a continued hearing before the Senate Finance Committee investigating power trust activities at the State House.

After pointing out that the laws prohibit electric companies from acquiring other companies without specific authority from the Legislature, Fahey declared that holding companies have a free rein and are free to acquire other companies and pay exorbitant prices for them.

The inflated price paid for these companies, he asserted, must eventually be paid for by the ratepayers of the public.

FAHEY RESTRICTS

If it was to restrict local companies from acquiring other companies, he said, the same principle should be placed upon the holding companies. Fahey asserted that the speaker then challenged the argument put forth on various occasions that holding companies represent an advance in efficiency and good management.

He argued that in the field of electric utility, the public is not interested in the public utility, but in the public utility. He said that the public utility is a public utility, and that the public utility is a public utility.

WHAT SHALL THEY DO

When you find small towns able to serve their people at a profit, he said, all out of the public utility. He said that the public utility is a public utility, and that the public utility is a public utility.

QUESTIONS OF TAXES

Mr. Fahey referred to statements that the taxes paid must be taken into consideration when comparing rates established by private companies with those of municipal plants. He said that taxes paid eventually come out of the public utility, and that the public utility is a public utility.

Crimson Five Is Ready for Opening Battle With B. U.

BOTH TEAMS PROPOSE TO FIGHT

WITH Max Pierce starting at center and Tommie Nido of Porto Rico newly named to start at guard for Harvard, the Crimson basketball team is ready to open its season with B. U. tomorrow.

Coach Ed Wacker believes his Crimson quintet is in fine shape for their opening bout. The team, which is composed of five veterans and four newcomers, is expected to be the best scoring threat on the team.

Wacker has plenty of reserve material ready to take the place of those if necessary.

Three of the most likely players are Bill Backus, a sophomore forward; George Patton and Ed Dutton, freshmen forwards; while Patterson and Patton are guards.

ALL VETERANS TO PLAY

Due to the fact that Harvard's first five are all veterans who have played together for two or more seasons, Wacker expects to keep the lineup unchanged on their first night of the season.

Harvard's game this season features a lot of passing built into its attack that is said to be different from anything seen in the East. The Crimson, however, realizes that they have a tough evening in store because B. U. is particularly blessed with veteran material this season.

Coach Win Karlson of the Boston University basketball team will start a team of five veterans against Harvard at Cambridge tomorrow night, in the first game of the season for both squads.

The starting lineup for B. U. will have Bernie Nims and Sammie Nims, forwards; Arthur Stearns and Bob Berry, guards; and Ed Young, center.

Although Berry and Nims are the only regulars on the first five from last year's squad, the other three players were members of the squad and saw enough action to give them the necessary experience to start on in high grade fashion this season.

Sammy Martin and Arnie Stearns are beginning their third season as basketball men and are being counted on by Karlson to come through with the goods this season and make a good showing.

STEARNS EARNS PLACE

Stearns has shown great improvement over his game of a year ago. He has already made a name for himself as a regular guard, out of his regular job and gives promise of becoming a future star there. Kevin is a good man, now, and, although he is a freshman, he has plenty of ability and may win back his job as a starter.

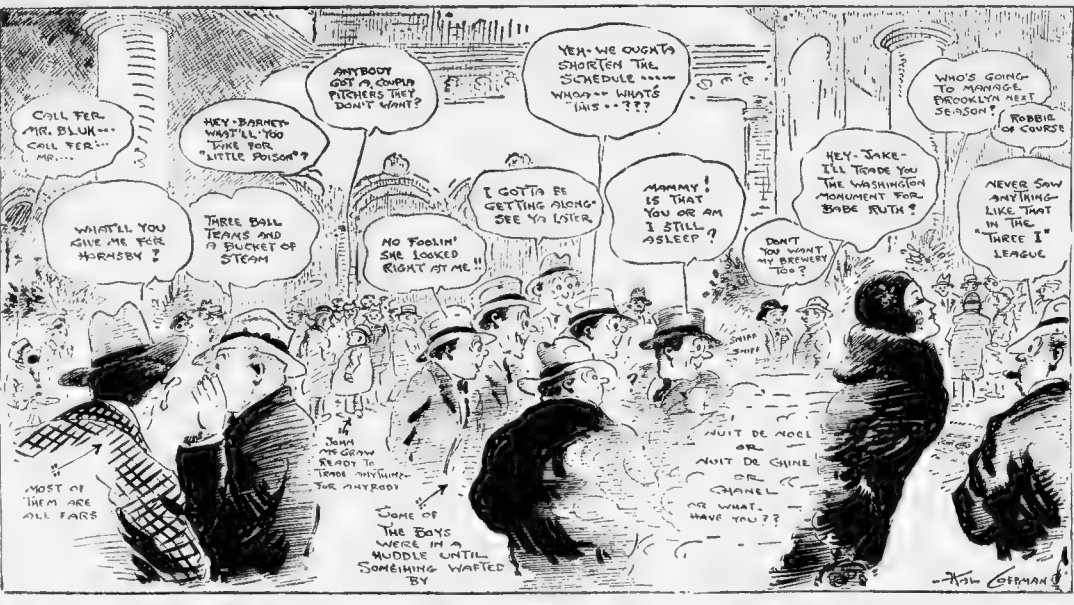

Stearns shows the least signs of slipping.

Martin has finally established himself as a regular after a long uphill fight which was rather slow in gaining the desired end due to his lack of height. Martin is a free foot two edition of a basketball player and this handicap kept him back for quite a while. He now that he is sure of his position, the Terrier quartet should be as well on the court as he did on the ground, which is plenty good enough.

Ken Young has clinched the starting job at center for the team being at head and will be the mainstay of the team. Young is a good player a year ago and was just about ready to step into the regular lineup when he was placed on probation because of low marks last year. He is a good player, now, and carried a good shot and his only drawback is that of weight which causes him to slow up in the latter part of the game.

Bob Berry and Bernie Nims at right guard and right forward respectively. The new ones on the team are also known to the players. They are the new players who were defeated and are anxious to make amends for last setback.

De Vito Favorite to Down Diglane

JOE DEVITO, husky Italian heavyweight from Providence, will meet Henri Diglane, undefeated French heavyweight, in the feature main match of Paul Bowser's weekly all-star wrestling tournament at the Grand Opera House tonight.

Devito has done some notable work this season, and will try to break the long winning streak that Diglane has run up. The Italian is one of the best of the younger crop of wrestlers, being expert at the flying mare, and he and Diglane are expected to present a fast and scientific bout tonight.

Devito was originally scheduled to meet Bob "Ebbie" McCoy of Cambridge in the feature match but McCoy will be unable to wrestle on account of blood poisoning and Diglane was substituted a few days ago.

Ed George, sensational young heavyweight who formerly captained the University of Michigan wrestling team, will appear in the third local match. He is Jackie Frank Yanko, experienced South Boston heavyweight, in the semifinal bout.

Frankman is one of the toughest big fellows in the game, one of many reasons why he rules a favorite. He has been roaming all over the country for the past seven months, fighting on an average of once a week and meeting all comers. He has gone to the past with Ernie Schaff, Red Gorman, Dr. Ludwig Haymann, and many other outstanding heavyweights. He best Gorman twice and defeated the German heavyweight champion.

All the sharpshooters without exception believe he has too much sense for Rawdon. The Big Boy has a punch that combines the qualities of a Dempsey left hook and a Knickerbocker right hand. Defensively, he is still crude, for his whole career has been embroiled in a fractional part of 48 rounds of fighting. Jack Dempsey has his first local appearance in the opening bout when he meets Jack Abbott, veteran Oklahomaan.

Dolan has declared that he could not wait for the first appearance on mat careers in Boston, and among those he mentioned was Abbott. Their "shootout match" will be the opening match on the card.

Tom Smith Wins Billiard Match

Tom Smith of Woburn won the opening match in the New England class B 125 ball billiard championship. He defeated Dr. R. M. Wolfe of Boston, 19-82, Smith won in a high run of 18 against the loser.

A week of Newton and Smith of Brockton will clash in the second match of the tournament tonight.

Schwelker and Salvatore of Providence boys were elected captain of soccer and cross-country, respectively, at a meeting which followed the football season.

Pasquonini will probably be the fourth man and will run in the lead off position. This job was a champion sprinter in English basketball and called out his dash honors in his freshman meets a year ago.

The quarter-mile, though it is not a new distance for him, is the one he has been running since he showed as much speed over the longer distances. Sullivan, two of the 100- and 500-yard lanes.

Ryder Building Up Relay Teams at B. C.

BOSTON COLLEGE should be represented by fast one and a mile relay teams this winter according to Coach Jack Ryder, after a two weeks of work on the board track at the college, is getting a good line on the ability of his candidates.

Ryder developed a reputation as one of the best coaches of relay teams in the country between the years of 1921 and 1926 when he turned out quartets representing Boston College and the B. A. A. that were a wayward contenders for national honors.

Jack is not predicting any championship for either of his relay quartets. But he has hopes of seeing his teams run off with better laurels in many of the big indoor meets which come fast and furious after the New Year.

In fact Jack feels that within the next two years Boston College will be back with the best of the country. The source of his optimism is the fact that many of his good prospects for this season are a scholarly set at Huntington and is very much of the modern type.

The two-mile relay squad is composed of Carow, Jack O'Brien, Tom Mulvey, Brendan Moynihan, Arthur Ward, Bernie Tumm, Tom Mulvey, Langhert, and Thomas Ward. O'Brien, Moynihan, Ward, Tumm and Carow are all good half-milers. Ryder has a hard task in picking the best four of this half-dozen.

Moynihan and Ward were the middle-distance stars of the freshman team of a year ago. Moynihan featured in the half-mile and Ward in the mile and two-mile. Ward, though he galloped around like a maniac, can be converted into a fast half-miler.

With this material Ryder will be doing turn out two good teams. There are no outsiders in the group but all are consistent and former and hard workers. They will have real good relay prospects.

CAROW ALSO OUT

Carow, another sophomore, has an ankle injury which has kept him out of the team. He is a good runner, but his injury is a setback for the team.

The four-mile relay team is composed of Carow, Jack O'Brien, Tom Mulvey, Brendan Moynihan, Arthur Ward, Bernie Tumm, Tom Mulvey, Langhert, and Thomas Ward. O'Brien, Moynihan, Ward, Tumm and Carow are all good half-milers. Ryder has a hard task in picking the best four of this half-dozen.

Gorilla Jones Says He Will K. O. Fields Tomorrow

18,000 FANS EXPECTED AT BOUT

IN spite of the holiday season, which generally proves a severe handicap to fight affairs, it is expected that the great gate-drawing power of Jackie Fields of Los Angeles, welterweight champion of the world, will result in a capacity throng of 18,000 paying $25.00 for his debut in this city against Gorilla Jones at the Boston Garden tomorrow night.

No doubt the champion would be capable of drawing twice this gate at some other season of the year, but because of the Christmas holidays, popular prices of $1 to $3 prevail and without doubt the bout will set up a new record for a December fight event.

From all sections of New England boxing fans, who have never seen the champion in action, will pour into the Hub for this bout and at the same time there is a feeling among the close followers of the game that the Akron boxer will upset the odds and many are looking forward to Jones putting the crabs on the champion before the end of the tenth round.

Personally, Jones expects to win by a knockout. He made this prediction following his strenuous training session at Charlie Cardona's gym and high fans who saw Jones knock out Al Mello here realize that he stands a fine chance of turning a similar trick against the titleholder.

JONES SURE OF K. O. WIN
Hub fans always have regarded Mello as the equal of Fields or any other welterweight. In fact, the new champion often flatteringly resorted to come to Boston to meet Mello before he won the title with the vain excuse that he would not "eat a sandwich."

And Jones, who already crushed Mello to the mat in a stunning four of their bout here a few months ago, believes that he can send the champion down for the count.

In fact, Jones points out, that only the climate and the change of water prevented him from knocking out Fields on the coast, when they met in San Francisco last October. Although Jones, who has won any number of crushing hand punches, he could not bring down the champion. He explains it by the fact that the climate sapped his strength in that bout.

Ray Welch, manager of Jones, feels so confident of victory tomorrow night that he has agreed to return $500 against $5000 that Jones will walk off with the decision in this important bout.

Apparently Jones will rely on his right except right hand punches to win for him tomorrow night. At the same time he admits that "left" left hook is a dangerous punch for it is the weapon that has led him to knockout victories over both Sgt. Sammy Baker and Young Jack Thompson, whom he conquered previously to lifting the title from Joe Dundee.

Fields, by the way, is capable of pointing to a ring record equal for in the fight game can equal for it was learned yesterday that Golden Coast boy has never participated in a preliminary bout, and that he has been years in the ranks of the preliminary boys. But not Fields, upon his return from Paris, where he won the world's amateur.

When he stepped into his first main bout against Henry Paschal at Pasadena and he has been fighting main bouts ever since.

GOOD PRELIM CARD
Big Rooster of Chicago, his manager, who is given credit for bringing him to the top always has been identified with champions. Rooney handled Al Wolsky, when he was lightweight champion and he also handled Jess Willard when this latter was on the way to winning the crown.

Prominent matchmakers from all sections of the country are coming to the Hub for this match in an effort to sign the winner for some important future.

More than 200 fans were turned away yesterday at Kelly & Hayes Gym, where Fields worked out while there was nothing but standing room at Cardona's Gym, where Jones stepped through a low season.

With an eight-round semifinal between Buster Brown of Ithaca, Mo., and Frankie Moore of the North End, and seven four-round bouts also on the card, it is expected that the show will prove one of the best of the year.

Lynn Newsies to Hold Annual Ball
The Lynn Newsboys Association, which organization has attracted nationwide attention because of its record of having sent close to 100 boys to college during the past dozen years, will hold its annual concert and ball for the benefit of its scholarship fund at Old Fellows Hall, Lynn, tomorrow night.

Lloyd Bauer of Lynn will lead the grand march. The association is able to send 10 of their number to college the coming year. No youngsters who are leaders in a quiet way following the ball. The senior newsboys will act as waiters at the banquet.

Red Sox Sale Story Denied by Quinn

Red Sox manager, John Quinn, today denied the story that he was planning to sell the team to a group of investors. Quinn said that the story was "a complete fabrication" and that he had no intention of selling the team.

TRADING DEADLOCK
The Boston club have just about given up all hope of any trades coming through this week. President Quinn says there isn't a thing stirring anywhere on the horizon.

He has talked with the Yankees, but they want to give nothing for one or two of the Sox pitchers. They offered a carload of vets and untied kids, but the Sox owner was looking for real athletes. Their leads all have been knocked down, and both admit that there's nothing bright in the trading future.

McKeehan has resigned himself to going along with material he has on hand, and thinks he can work out a good ball club. "I like the Braves' pitching staff," chirps William, "and think it will be a real crowd of sharpshooters next season. A couple of the young chaps were just finding themselves last year, and will be ready for another campaign. There's enough pitching around for a starter."

"I would like another catcher, but if we can't get one, Hank Gowdy is still around and he can go in there and do a pretty good job of filling in."

TO KEEP GOWDY
McKeehan has decided to retain Hank as coach and auxiliary catcher, and to put Johnny Evers out on the scouting trail. John knows ball players, and the life of a scout will keep him from getting his fiery disposition mixed up in the game.

There is a possibility that Frank Hogan of Somerville may come back to the Tribe. Francis didn't do so well last season, and John McKeehan is about ready to put him in. And the Braves have a bid for Francis if he goes to the block.

The large backstop probably would do much better in Boston than he has in New York. He's a happy go lucky young man.

IOWA BANS 22 ATHLETES

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 12 (INS)—Iowa University's intention of seeking readmission in the Western Conference was regarded as a certainty today after the athletic board of control last night banned 22 athletes from further intercollegiate competition.

Complete capitulation to the demands of the 121 members is seen in the board's action.

Names of only four of the 22 athletes barred were made public. They include Oran Pope, football star of Dubuque, Ia.; Mike Pajot, basketball last night was charged with violation of the Iowa basketball team; Irving Nelson, football star; Richard Affie, basketball and basketball player; and Edward Leck, football player.

Fate of Hub Soccer Rests With League

THE Atlantic Coast Soccer League will meet in New York Saturday to determine whether Boston interests will be granted a franchise or not.

James Robertson will go over as the Hub delegate, and, according to reports, will have plenty of financial backing to put the best club over.

Four of the six Atlantic Coast League games this weekend will be played in Southern New England. On Saturday, Philadelphia will visit Philadelphia and the White Sox will have Brooklyn providing the opposition.

On Sunday, Philadelphia will play Fall River at Tiverton and Brooklyn will play at Providence, Pa. The Lehigh Recreation soccer eleven are without a state league game this weekend as none of the other 12 clubs of the circuit are but on plans to go to the United States.

Four soccer should have played the first conference club this weekend but the Shubholders prefer waiting until the weather gets a little more favorable.

25-CENT BALLS FOR KIDS

Chicago, Dec. 12 (AP)—Children may be admitted to events each to all major baseball games in 1930 excepting played on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

At the suggestion of Kenesaw Landis, commissioner of baseball, Thomas J. Bowler of Chicago was bound for the joint use of the matter at New York today with the plan of joint tickets for youngsters.

"The youngsters are losing interest in baseball because they can't pay high prices for tickets," Bowler said. "If the rate is 25 cents for them, they again become interested in the game."

AYRES MAKES FORECASTS FOR NEXT YEAR

NEXT YEAR
Cleveland O. Dec. 12.—Col. Loom and F. Ayres, vice-presidents of Cleveland Trust Co., press business.

(1)—Short term interest rates will probably have a downward trend in early months, changing a rising one before close of the year. Average levels will be lower 1929, but not below 1927.

(2)—Production of basic raw materials in United States and Canada in 1930 will probably fall below 1929 by more than 50,000, but not by more than 100,000 tons.

(3)—Total value of building construction probably will not differ from 1929 by more than 5 per cent.

(4)—Stock prices in closing months of 1929 probably will be above closing prices of 1929, but still below recent high levels.

(5)—Output of iron and steel

99. It seems unlikely the rate of unemployment will be reduced by 100 per cent.

100. Average wholesale prices of non-agricultural products probably will be less than 1929 level by more than 5 per cent.

101. There will be more unemployment in 1933 than in 1932.

102. Corresponding months of 1929, but with conditions improved as the year progresses.

103. Average industrial wage rates probably will not differ more than 10 per cent from 1929 average.

104. Costs of building probably will be changing greatly, but no trend is noticeable in a declining one.

105. Net profits of industrial corporations probably will be distinctly less than 1929.

106. Tourist travel abroad will decline.

Big Order Started for Canadian Branch

Bois-Warner Corporation has started delivery on a contract for 100,000 pairs of shoes in a month for the Canadian branch of one of the largest retail stores in the world.

the largest American automobile manufacturers. This is in addition to the daily delivery of 100 or more 1400 transmission units being manufactured by the same company's assembly plants in the United States. The Detroit Gear & Machine Company and the Warner Gear Company, both subsidiaries of Borg-Warner Corporation, are filling these orders.

late, when second early options prices have risen. Beasley and his associates placed new production in Australia at $600,000 bushels compared with 400,000 bushels in 1991. Strating at a 1 to 1 ratio, the Chicago wheat futures price, however, has moved up to $2.25, as the firm's wheat with some grain has sold off to a 1 up, and subsequently the wheat business all around. Provisions declined.

Telephone Income of 98 Companies Up

The aggregate net operating income of 98 telephone companies for the third quarter ended in 1991, as against $21,212,758 in 1990, is $24,969,000.

Naming of Lobbyist Grundy to Senate Defies Public Opinion

FLAUNTING public opinion, Governor Fisher of Pennsylvania last night appointed Joseph R. Grundy as junior United States Senator from the Keystone State.

It was hardly to be believed that the Governor of Pennsylvania would appoint as a Senator from that State a man who had just been exposed as a lobbyist by a committee of the United States Senate engaged in investigating the very activities of the lobby.

The Republican machine of Pennsylvania is known to be a more or less disreputable political organization, largely in the control of the privileged interests.

Yet it seemed hardly possible that this machine, for its own sake, or for the sake of the privileged interests which control it, would wish to incur the resentment of the people of the whole country. This they have done by naming an exposed lobbyist as a representative of the State and people of Pennsylvania in the United States Senate, which has just exposed this particular lobbyist.

The privileged, protected interests are not too popular throughout the country at best at this time. These privileged and protected interests have been held up to the public gaze as backing and financing the various activities of lobbyists in Washington, even to the extent of securing the appointment of lobbyists on the public payroll, in the hope of influencing Senators in their legislation.

These predatory and protected interests have been shown to have taken advantage of the desire of the President and the Congress and the people of the United States to help farmers, and have tried to pervert this laudable object into an attempt to secure more governmental favors for themselves, and more exorbitant tariff rates upon the things that farmers have to buy and the public generally has to buy.

These privileged interests are known to be making huge combinations to create monopolies and raise prices and further plunder the public. And some of them at least are known to have swindled the public in stock manipulations, running comparatively worthless stock up to high figures and then unloading the stocks upon the public, and then allowing the prices to drop in value and the public carry the bag.

And finally these privileged financial interests and great banking interests are trying to involve the country in foreign entanglements in order to facilitate their international financial program of floating foreign bonds in this country.

With all this evidence of brutal selfishness and indifference to public welfare piling up against these predatory interests, and adding to their unpopularity, it certainly would seem unwise to give further evidence of their defiance of public opinion and public benefit. But they defy public opinion and defy public benefit by demanding and obtaining through their control of the Pennsylvania machine, the appointment of an exposed lobbyist to represent them publicly in the United States Senate as he has hitherto represented them privately.

Those Penny Stickers

Not Very Big, But Oh! the Work They Do

THEY are little things, just about the size of a postage stamp, these Christmas Seals which have come to us through the mails, but they represent a MIGHTY force.

They help to sustain the war against tuberculosis. When this year began, more than a year ago, there were TWO HUNDRED AND FORTY deaths from tuberculosis in Massachusetts for every 100,000 of population.

The rate today is not more than ONE-THIRD as large. Building of State and County tuberculosis hospitals would never have been accomplished so soon except for the drive of the tuberculosis associations.

Clinics, open-air schools, health education and camps for boys and girls are other things for which we are in debt to the same organizations.

If you would see a PART of the work supported by the dollars YOU pay for Christmas Seals, you should visit the Prudden's Preventorium, on a wooded 27-acre lot in Mattapan.

Here, boys and girls, undernourished boys and girls, are cared for throughout the year at a cost to the Boston Tuberculosis Association of $9.10 each, per week.

There are 50 of them out there the year around, 100 more in Summer. Milk, fresh vegetables and the warm rays of the sun help to make them new.

President, director and doctors—no wonder, sometimes, how these men of medicine are able to do so much, gratis—are UNPAID.

Their little patients number between 500 and 600 every year, and living conditions in almost as many homes are completely revolutionized when the youngsters return, to spread the benefits of their "health education."

The Association is not done with them, however, for competent nurses continue to keep track of them until the white plague has been put to rest beyond question.

This is a PART of what your Christmas Seals would do, have done, are doing.

But YOU know, and this editorial is only a reminder.

P.S.—Beside, NO Christmas gift-package looks NEARLY as attractive as that which is decorated with Christmas Seals.

Wake the Sleepwalker

By NELSON
HARDING

H. G. Wells Writes on "The Science of Life"

In Collaboration With Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells

It is this there is a striking difference between the two glands that are most important from the point of view of growth.

The thyroid gland lies in the neck. It is a roughly U-shaped body, brownish red in color, with two thickened lobes lying one on each side of the larynx and a bridge connecting the lower ends of the two lobes and crossing in front of the windpipe.

It contains a number of minute, completely closed vesicles that are full of a yellow fluid. The essential facts about the thyroid have been known for a longer time than about any other ductless gland owing to the fortunate accident that its secretions pass unchanged through the digestive system in the blood, so that patients can be treated by simply feeding them with dried gland substance.

And our knowledge of the thyroid has recently taken an important step forward, because it is one of the two ductless glands whose active principles have been isolated and analyzed, and even successfully synthesized in the laboratory from simpler materials. The other is the central part of the adrenal gland. The products in question are called thyroxine and adrenalin respectively.

The secretions of the thyroid affect profoundly a great number of different physiological processes. One milligram of thyroxine injected into a normal man will cause his chemical activity, as measured by oxygen consumption and carbon dioxide production, to go up by two per cent, although the amount injected is only about one seventy-millionth part of the man's weight.

Heavy doses of thyroid speed up the vital energies to such an extent that unless enormous quantities of food are provided there is a breakdown of the substance of the tissues themselves in an effort to get more fuel to burn, and the animal or man wastes away. The substance can also affect temperament; heavy doses of thyroxine make a perfectly normal man nervous and irascible.

It is clear that a gland like the thyroid may have very broad effects upon all the bodily processes, including growth, if its secretion is for long periods of time a little above or a little below normal.

A disease known as myxedema is due to deficiency of the secretion. A year's time spent on an alkali-salt diet, which is characteristic of the various physical and physical conditions that go on in the body; the pulse is slowed, the temperature is low, the appetite is blunted, speech becomes a drawl, the mind becomes viscous.

At the same time there is a thickening of the connective tissues under the skin, producing a puffiness and yellowness of the face and hands and falling of the hair and a considerable accumulation of fat.

In children with defective thyroids similar phenomena appear, but growth, particularly of the brain and skeleton, also ceases. A child so affected may live for many years, but even when thirty years old it remains a feeble creature, with the intelligence of a child of four or five.

This not only improves the blood but gives us the chance to put up our chief executive's name in electric lights in direct competition with other crackers and cigarettes.

The message will be stolen between the Treasury and Capitol Hill by Lon Chaney as the slippery ace of the high tariff tribe. It will be recovered in the 12th reel with dialogue, thus giving us excitement without punctuation.

They may think it is very O. K. But may send it back because there is no love interest in it.

The proper method of putting over a message to Congress is to make it an adventure story with plenty of romance and a handsome actress as the heroine.

Exemption of Food Ships

Ranking With the Best Utterances of Our Best Presidents
Is Hoover's Plan for Safety of These Vessels in Wartime

WHEN President Hoover revived, in a most appealing form, the ancient American tradition of freedom of the seas, he accomplished the best thing the Hoover Administration has done to date.

The President, in his Armistice Day address, said:

But I am going to have the temerity to put forward an idea which might break through the involved legal questions and age-old interpretations of right and wrong by a practical step. It would solve a large part of the intrinsic problem. It would act as a PREVENTIVE as well as a LIMITATION of war. I offer it only for the consideration of the world.

"For many years, born of a poignant personal experience, I have held that food ships should be made free of any interference in times of war. I would place all vessels laden solely with food supplies on the same footing as hospital ships."

"THE TIME HAS COME WHEN WE SHOULD REMOVE STARVATION OF WOMEN AND CHILDREN FROM THE WEAPONS OF WARFARE."

"The protection of food movements in time of war would constitute a most important contribution to the rights of all parties, whether neutral or belligerent, AND WOULD GREATLY TEND TOWARD LESSENING THE PRESSURE FOR NAVAL STRENGTH."

This is a clear, sincere, straightforward expression of the abiding sentiments of the overwhelming majority of the American people.

This utterance has been given emphatic indorsement throughout the household of the nation.

This declaration for freedom of the seas, and against starvation of women and children as a war weapon, has arrested the attention of the whole world.

It will long hold the respectful attention of the world. This lofty statement of American ideals really deserves to rank with the BEST utterances of our BEST Presidents.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—A super-myth has sprung up about the accidental rewards of the advertising agencies.

It is a myth, however, that the advertising agencies have become "slogan conscious." There is a belief the very agencies can often think up a slogan for a new product and immediately cruise to work in a yacht.

Thousands of letters pour into the advertising agencies daily from those who have just thought up a "wow" out of their own heads. Records show only one or two suggestions from outsiders have since the bell. Mostly it has been a waste of time.

A striking slogan proves an enormous business getter. A coffee that has only one slogan, "Coca-Cola," has become a "leader" three years ago. A catch-line was introduced from coast to coast. The enormous increase in circulation of the "Coca-Cola" is credited to bright slogans.

Yet most of these sensational phrases have come from experienced copy writers, connected with big agencies. It is not one of those quick processes of sudden inspiration. A year's time spent on an alkali-salt diet, which is characteristic of the various physical and physical conditions that go on in the body; the pulse is slowed, the temperature is low, the appetite is blunted, speech becomes a drawl, the mind becomes viscous.
